

RONDOUT CREEK BRIDGE A REALITY

All That is Left is Four Days of Painting to be Done in Spring. And Installation of Electric Light Bulbs—No Serious Accidents—Supt. Spooner Leaves Kingston—Traffic Awaits Road.

The work of building the Rondout creek bridge was practically completed today, and Superintendent Arthur A. Spooner, who had charge of the construction work for Terry & Tench, the bridge contractors, left at noon for his home in Long Island. All that remains to be done is about four days painting, which will be done in the spring, and the installation of the electric light bulbs, which is to be done by a sub-contractor.

Work of erecting the bridge started in December of 1920. Under the direction of Superintendent Spooner the bridge work progressed steadily and it was erected without the loss of a single life. The most serious accident that occurred in the work was the mangling of a finger of one of the workmen, and the loosening of some teeth of another.

When Terry & Tench was awarded the contract to erect the bridge Mr. Spooner was selected to superintend the work, as the company realized that he was a man who was extremely well qualified to carry the work to a successful conclusion.

The erection of the two large derricks called for skill of the highest type owing to the lack of suitable anchorage for the guy wires and the erecting of the footwalks on the bridge stands out as a bright example of skill.

Another feature of the work that deserves a commendation was the erection of the steel, especially over the Island Dock where there was a large number of men at work which made the job a risky one.

Before leaving for his home today Superintendent Spooner arranged the final details, and the bridge is now ready to receive traffic, but will not be opened until the bridge road is ready to accommodate traffic.

A brief sketch of the man who had full charge of the construction of the bridge is not amiss at this time. Joseph A. Spooner was born in Beaver Falls, Pa., in 1880, and entered bridge construction work at an early age, first working on the suspension bridge at East Liverpool, Ohio, for the Pennsylvania Bridge Company, and has continued at bridge work ever since.

A few of the bridges that Mr. Spooner has worked on or has had charge of follows: The Fort Wayne bridge at Pittsburgh, Pa.; the Wash bridge at Mingo Junction, Ohio; the Beaver bridge at Beaver, Pa.; the Manhattan bridge in New York city; and the extension of the subway on Westchester avenue, New York.

He also worked on the mail service building, fifteen stories in height, in New York city, and erected thirteen cranes, each 160 feet high, at the Baltimore Dry Dock, Baltimore, Maryland, and the cranes at the shipyard of the Morse Shipbuilding Company at Alexandria, Virginia.

From the Rondout creek job he will report to the office of the contractors, and where he will be sent next he does not know.

Mr. Spooner while in Kingston proved a quiet and unassuming chap and made friends easily. While the bridge was being built he mingled with his men and was always watching out that there were no traps or faulty scaffolds which would cause an accident. While here he was assisted by a corp of foremen. One of the foremen was a local man, Joseph Southard, of Franklin street, who had charge of the carpenter gang.

MORGANWECK PROTESTS
LAST GAME AT TROY.
Says Collar City Team Didn't Post Forfeit.

Frank Morganweck, manager of the Kingston state league basketball team, has written a letter of protest to President Lou Stolz of Schenectady against Kingston being charged with a forfeit as the result of the game at Troy Wednesday night. He says that at the time this game was played Troy did not have its forfeit money posted as required by the rules and consequently it was not a league game. He recalls that in the first period of the winter Schenectady, although it practically won first place was not awarded first place because it did not have its forfeit money in league hands. Gloversville was then awarded first place.

Morganweck asks that the Kingston-Troy game be thrown out of the records and played over.

A meeting of the league managers will probably be held at Schenectady a week from Sunday at which time the protest will be voted on.

MANKES BANKRUPT CASE TESTIMONY

Another chapter in the matter of the bankruptcy of Herman Mankes of Fallsburgh, Sullivan county, was written Friday before Amos Van Eiten referee in bankruptcy, at his office 240 Fair street. This was a hearing ordered by Judge Hand, of United States Circuit Court who sent the matter back for the taking of further testimony on two matters. On August 12, 1921, the matter of the bankruptcy of Mankes came up before Referee Van Eiten. By the testimony then given it developed that Mankes who was in the vulcanizing and tire retreading business at Fallsburgh, became acquainted with Mrs. Sophie Jarrett and her daughter Hattie of Brooklyn. Later he promised to marry Hattie and after some talk with her mother Mankes got $3,000 from her as part of Hattie's dowry. He then went to Brooklyn where he lived for a short time and bought an automobile. Then he married a Miss Garankin. Next Mrs. Jarrett sued and got a judgment against Mankes and Hattie and him for breach of promise. The next chapter was when Mankes filed a petition in bankruptcy, D. G. Atkins being his attorney.

At the August hearing testimony was given about a check for $1,000 given to Mankes by Nathan Garankin a brother-in-law in Brooklyn which Mankes turned over to his wife who in turn gave it back to Garankin. After a lively session at the hearing before Referee Van Eiten an adjournment was taken until September 21, 1921, in order that Harold Phillips, attorney for Mrs. Jarrett, an objecting creditor, and Mr. Atkins could have time to examine the bank slips, checks and bank books, but because of the illness of Mr. Atkins and his death later there was no further hearing held. Referee Van Eiten then, after examining the testimony and the papers recommended to the U. S. District Court that Mankes be discharged from bankruptcy. Mrs. Jarrett filed objections to the discharge of Mankes, and Judge Hand sent the matter back to Referee Van Eiten for the taking of further testimony especially as to the $1,000 Garankin check, and as to a claim of one Herman Fuldhuus of Brooklyn against the bankrupt estate. The hearing this morning was called for that purpose, and Mr. Mankes and wife, Mrs. Sophie Jarrett, Hattie Jarrett, Harold Phillips attorney for the objecting creditor, and Robert Jarrett, a son were present. The latter testified as to serving a subpoena on Fuldhuus to come to the hearing to testify, and of giving him seven dollars to pay railroad fare, and Mrs. Jarrett testified she was with her son when the subpoena was served. Up to 12 o'clock a recess was taken until 1:30 p. m. Fuldhuus had not arrived. Referee Van Eiten asked for the original subpoena which it was stated was issued in the U. S. Court but Lawyer Phillips could not find it, but promised to mail it. Asked if ten cents a mile and legal fees for one day's attendance had been offered Robert Jarrett testified it had not been but that Fuldhuus was told if the seven dollars was not enough the deficiency would be made up but said he was satisfied.

Mrs. Jarrett was called and started to tell all about her transactions with Mankes whom she gave the $3,000 but was stopped by Referee Van Eiten as she did not know personally about the check and the Fuldhuus claim, the only two matters that were before the court. The daughter Hattie also was called and had no personal knowledge of the two matters in question sent back for further testimony. Mr. Mankes since Mr. Atkins died and had no more testimony to offer. The Mankes now live in Monticello. During the hearing Mrs. Jarrett and daughter wanted to inject themselves testimony frequently and were very nervous in their actions.

At the adjourned hearing Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, Herman Fuldhuus not having appeared a further adjournment was taken until Wednesday, February 8.

MISS WALLACE'S BURNS FATAL

Miss Johanna Wallace, who was burned about the face and body Wednesday morning when an oil lamp exploded in her room, No. 457 Abbel street, is dead, her injuries having proven fatal. Miss Wallace was asleep on the couch in her sitting room when the oil stove standing near suddenly blew up and she awakened to find herself in flames. She was removed to the Benedictine Hospital in the city ambulance. The funeral will be held at the Church of the Holy Name in Wilbur Monday morning at 10 o'clock, where a requiem Mass will be celebrated for the repose of her soul. Interment in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery.

COURT OF APPEALS RECORD FOR PAST YEAR

Calendar Reduced From 800 to 253 Cases.

Judge A. T. Clearwater, chairman of the committee of the New York State Bar Association for the relief of the congested calendar of the Court of Appeals, in a letter to the New York Herald, printed Thursday, says:

The important duties devolved upon the Court of Appeals so unobtrusively are discharged that the general public know little if anything of the industry and painstaking care of the judges composing that great tribunal.

On the first day of January, 1917, when the committee of which I happened to be chairman was appointed, there were 860 cases on the calendar of the court; on the first day of January, 1921, there were but 253 cases.

An analysis of the work of the year beginning January 1, 1921, and ending on December 31 of that year may be interesting, not only to the bench and the bar but to the public, who at least should be concerned in the proceedings of all judicial tribunals. The record is as follows:

(a) The number of cases entered on the register disposed of in the regular order 406

(b) The number of cases dismissed on motion, &c. 26

(c) The number of cases on the calendar dismissed under Rule XV. 1 7

(d) The number of cases dismissed under Rules I and VI 7

(e) The number of cases dismissed on consent 20

(f) The number of contested motions 274

(g) The number of uncontested motions 68

(h) The number of cases remaining on the calendar of the court December 31, 1921 253

This cleidy of disposition has not to the slightest extent involved any sacrifice of careful consideration and the just and proper disposition of the cases finally passed upon by the court. It may to some extent perhaps have been due to a gentle and urbane suggestion that the court was not entirely ignorant of the fundamental principles of the common law and not altogether destitute of facilities for acquainting itself with the confused and entangling provisions of the statute law.

WALTON BILLS FOR HEAVY SENTENCES

Another effort to check the crime wave was made in the senate at Albany Friday when Senator Charles W. Walton, chairman of the senate committee on codes, introduced several bills materially increasing the penalty for serious crimes. One of these restores to imprisonment for life the penalty for second degree murder, repealing the provision which allows an indeterminate sentence with twenty years as the minimum term of imprisonment.

Other measures introduced by Senator Walton to increase the punishment for crimes follow: Assault, first degree, a term not exceeding fifteen years, instead of ten years; robbery, first degree, minimum of one year and maximum shall be for the offender's life, the maximum now being twenty years; robbery second degree, not exceeding twenty years, instead of fifteen years; robbery third degree, not more than fifteen years, instead of ten years; burglary third degree, not exceeding fifteen years, instead of five years.

Another bill introduced by Senator Walton gives the court discretion to try separately or jointly defendants who have been indicted jointly.

Improving Lunch Room.

Owing to improvements which are to be made Winter's lunch room and restaurant at 563 Broadway, near the West Shore crossing, will be closed for a week or ten days beginning Monday next. A tile floor will be laid and other improvements to make the lunch room an up to date restaurant will be made.

PAINT DEALERS GRAVES'S GUESTS

A number of local paint dealers and their friends were guests at a dinner given at the Stuyvesant Hotel Friday evening by Nelson M. Graves, New York manager of the Melbongall-Butler Co., Inc., manufacturers of Buffalo paints and varnishes, in honor of Dwyer Brothers, the local distributors. Mr. Graves acted as toastmaster and each man present was called on for a speech.

The key-note of the meeting was "Make 1922 the Greatest Paint and Varnish Year"—a slogan which has been adopted by all members of the paint and varnish industry.

Frank L. Smith of Buffalo, field sales manager of the company, gave an instructive talk on paints and varnishes which was of great interest to everyone, and followed it by a demonstration of some of the leading products of the company which are distributed by Dwyer Brothers. On behalf of Dwyer Brothers, James F. Dwyer expressed appreciation of those present for the valuable suggestions which they had received from the company's representatives and spoke of the return to normal prosperity which was bound to follow increased activity of everyone who is interested in business.

Those present included James F. Dwyer, Robert J. Dwyer, Nelson M. Graves of New York city, Frank D. Smith of Buffalo, John O'Connor, Michael J. McIlwain, Lawrence Scammon, Frank P. Messinger, Robert McIlwrick, Peter A. Kullman, Fred D. Hunt, Harvey F. Hornbeck, Thomas Ward Eling Roosa, James A. Dwyer, Jr. and John H. Dwyer.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, Feb. 4.—Mrs. Anna Elstines, who has been the guest of relatives in New York city and Brooklyn for a few weeks, has returned to her home on Broadway.

Mrs. Clarence Cole of Elster Park, spent Friday with Mrs. Charles Beaver on Broadway.

Although there was a small attendance at the illustrated lecture Thursday evening, on account of the inclemency of the weather, etc., the few that were there responded well as the amount cleared was $12.00.

Butchering is in order in Port Ewen.

Hauck Corporation to Resume Operations

Will Run Local Plant at Full Capacity and Experts to Enlarge at an Early Date—Vice-President Kearney in Charge of Main Office in New York City.

The Hauck Food Products Corporation, manufacturers and refiners of edible oils, is to resume operations at full capacity, with a probability that the capacity of the plant will be increased at an early date. For some time production has been limited. A few weeks ago New York capitalists purchased an interest in the corporation and at a recent meeting of stockholders James F. Dwyer, Walter N. Gill and David Terry of this city, and Harold M. Saddleleire and Ralph B. Wagner of New York city were elected directors. The directors have elected Mr. Saddleleire president, John B. Kearney, vice president, and Mr. Wagner, secretary and treasurer.

The principal office of the corporation will be located at No. 135 Broadway, New York city, with Vice President Kearney in charge. A local office for the transaction of business connected with the operation of the plant will be maintained in this city. While Mr. Kearney will be in charge of the main office in New York city he will continue to reside in Kingston and expects to spend nearly half of his time here.

SPACE ALLOTTED FOR AUTO SHOW

Dealers Talk Over Other Phases—Van Wagenen Talks More About Bridge Road, Showing That All Depends on Weather.

Twenty-five members of the Kingston Automotive Dealers met at the Stuyvesant Friday night to talk over plans for the big automobile show at the armory.

Plans for the big show are progressing satisfactorily. Space was allotted for the display of sixty cars, in addition to which there will be between fifteen and twenty accessory exhibits.

The matter of procuring a speaker of prominence to open the show formally with an appropriate address, has been done each year since Kingston has had an automobile show, was referred to a committee.

The dealers invited Assemblyman Simon B. Van Wagenen to attend their session and discuss the construction of the highway now under construction which will connect the Rondout creek bridge with the present state highway at Port Ewen. Mr. Van Wagenen explained in detail the work of excavating and road building through the rock cut where work is being carried on.

The published interviews which he had had with Secretary Herbert W. Baker, of the New York State Automobile Association, and with the Chamber of Commerce committee, were correct, said Mr. Van Wagenen, who gave further details regarding road construction for the benefit of those who were unfamiliar with the work.

Excavating in the rock cut probably would be finished by the fifteenth of March, he said, and as soon as the frost is out of the ground the work of putting in the sub-base would proceed. Judging from the weather in previous years, the frost should be out of the ground by the fifteenth of April. From the time the frost is out of the ground, it should not require more than fifteen days to complete laying the sub-base and putting the road in passable condition, this being entirely dependent on weather conditions. Under the state highway commission's specifications, for all state road work, asphalt cannot be laid unless in the judgment of the highway department engineers the weather conditions are suitable. Asphalt, which is called for by the specifications for the road connecting the bridge with the state highway, cannot be laid in rainy weather, or unless the rock on which it is to be laid is dry. Neither can it be laid in cold weather, for which reason the state highway department shuts down all fall construction work on the fifteenth of first of November in rare cases where the entire contract can be completed within that time by laying the asphalt. In the same way, asphalt is not permitted by the highway department to be laid in the spring until the weather has been sufficiently warm to dry out the moisture from the rock which the asphalt is to cover, as otherwise the asphalt would not last for more than a few months either as a binder or as the surface covering which carries traffic.

Where rock is being excavated in a cut, drills cannot be operated faster than it is possible to remove the rock loosened by the blasts and make ready for the next drill holes. Both horizontal and vertical holes are drilled; sometimes blasts fail to loosen the quantity of rock anticipated by reason of the character of the rock and then it is necessary to drill again along practically the same lines as before, while the character of the rock encountered often makes inequalities of daily progress for the same amount of daily labor. Up to the early part of December, and until the weather became so cold that drill-runners found it impossible to work, night drilling was carried on at the cut, sometimes all night and sometimes to midnight or as late as the drill-runners were able to manipulate their drills, in order that the blasting operations might be completed before the day shift appeared for work with the steam shovel and other machinery.

Palmer Canfield, Jr., attorney for Sam Mignano, found guilty of manslaughter, second degree, and sentenced to Dannemora prison, made application for a certificate of reasonable doubt. Assistant District Attorney Brooks appeared and stated that he did not oppose a stay of execution. Mignano is still in the county jail. Judge Handbrook granted a stay of execution until the close of the March term of the appellate division of the supreme court when if an appeal is not taken the stay of execution will be vacated. If an appeal is taken the stay will serve until a decision is handed down from the higher courts.

HENRY KOTURA RAN AWAY FROM HOME IN CATSKILL WEDNESDAY

Henry Kotura, 14 years old of Catskill, was picked up here Friday evening by the police department at the request of the Catskill authorities. The young lad left his home there on Wednesday and walked across the Hudson river on the ice to Germantown where he spent the night, and then proceeded on down the river crossing to Kingston on Rhinecliff. Friday night he spent with a family named Bradley at No. 67 Newkirk avenue, former residents of Catskill. When they learned that he had run away from home to seek his fortune they notified police headquarters. Today an officer from Catskill came here and took Henry back home.

LANKISKY FREE ON HABEAS CORPUS

Had Been Turned Over to Ellenville Police Without Proper Commitment—Other Matters in Special Term.

Chris J. Flanagan appeared before Justice C. D. B. Hasbrouck in special term of supreme court this morning and asked for a writ of habeas corpus in the matter of Bernard Lankisky who was arrested Thursday evening by Officer Camp at the request of the Ellenville authorities. Lankisky was turned over to the Ellenville authorities charged with being the father of an infant of a young woman of Ellenville. When given a hearing before the Ellenville authorities plaintiff's attorney asked for an adjournment until March 4 and was turned over to the Chief of Police of Ellenville, without proper commitment. Defendant's attorney asked for an immediate hearing at Ellenville, which under the law defendant was entitled to, which was not granted. After hearing Mr. Flanagan Judge Hasbrouck granted the writ and respondent was discharged.

Testimony was taken in divorce proceedings Anna Countryman vs. Lewis Countryman. The parties were married in April 1919 but for some time plaintiff has not been living with her husband she testifying that he had been living for some time on Chambers street with a woman as man and wife and some time ago a child had been born to this woman. F. C. Morrill appeared for plaintiff.

Florence Kirby, who resides at Ellenville, through her attorney, John DeVany, has brought action for separation on the grounds of desertion and cruel treatment. The Kirby's formerly lived at Ellenville but moved to Walker Valley. After being there for some time Mrs. Kirby returned to Ellenville, claiming that her husband refused to provide for her. She now lives with her mother in the village and is earning her own living. Mr. Kirby in this answer also asks for a separation on the grounds of desertion, claiming that he did provide for her but that she left him and went to Ellenville and refused to return. Papers were submitted and decision reserved.

Palmer Canfield, Jr., attorney for Sam Mignano, found guilty of manslaughter, second degree, and sentenced to Dannemora prison, made application for a certificate of reasonable doubt. Assistant District Attorney Brooks appeared and stated that he did not oppose a stay of execution. Mignano is still in the county jail. Judge Handbrook granted a stay of execution until the close of the March term of the appellate division of the supreme court when if an appeal is not taken the stay of execution will be vacated. MRS. FISKE TO PLAY IN KINGSTON

America's Most Distinguished Actress Will Play at Kingston Opera House on Saturday Evening, February 25.

Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske, who is universally recognized as the most brilliant and distinguished American artist who graces the dramatic stage, is coming to Kingston and will appear in her famous New York comedy success, "Wake Up, Jonathan," at the Kingston Opera House three weeks from tonight—Saturday, February 25.

Mrs. Fiske unquestionably is the greatest actress who will ever have appeared in Kingston. It is rarely that she leaves New York city, where her present success, "Wake Up, Jonathan," enjoyed an all-season run at the Henry Miller Theater last year. Because of its phenomenal success, Mrs. Fiske decided to continue its production another season in the large cities of the United States, and is now returning from a successful tour of the southern states where ovation everywhere accorded her has not been surpassed by the triumphal tour of any other woman. Her latest play is the work of Hatcher Hughes, who is professor of the drama at Columbia University, and Elmer L. Rice, who is remembered best as the author of "On Trial," and it has been pronounced to be the most worthy vehicle Mrs. Fiske has had in many years for the exercise of the inimitable skill for which she is noted. As usual, Mrs. Fiske is surrounded by a cast of notable players, but her own remarkable talents shine throughout the play in incomparable splendor.

WHAT IS OFFERED AT THE THEATRE

"The Girl of The Secret Service," comedy drama, will be presented by the Manhattan Players at Kingston Opera House tonight, as their closing production. Three days starting Monday Pauline Starke in Whitman Bennett's production of "Salvation Nell."

"Footlights," starring Elsie Ferguson, is showing for the last time at Keeney's tonight. "Snooks," in the comedy, "Snooks," is also programmed. Monday and Tuesday Keeney's will present Miriam Cooper in "The Bath."

Frank Mayo in "Across the Dead Line" is the attraction at the Auditorium tonight. Monday Clara Kimbell Young in "Tinsel." Jack Johnson, former champion heavyweight pugilist, will be at the Orpheum Theater February 4, 7 and 8th. Johnson is supported by a vaudeville jubilee show in conjunction to a feature photo play. He will box four rounds at each performance. Johnson will be pleased to meet any glove pushers of any weight or height during his engagement at the Orpheum. On Tuesday afternoon and evening John will show his super strength by pulling against a team of horses upon the street if local permit can be obtained. Three performances will be given daily.

TILLSON.

Tillson, Feb. 3.—Mrs. Frank La Forge had the misfortune to fall and break her leg Tuesday morning. Dr. Rymph is the attending physician.

Mrs. Donald Brown of Amsterdam is spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Van Kleeck.

E. W. Mathaway, surveyor, is busy surveying the Keator property recently sold to E. Dakin of New York city. What might have been a serious fire was discovered in the home of H. Van Leuven Tuesday morning. But owing to the quick work of those near it was soon extinguished. Emma Van Kleeck is improving at this writing.

Henry J. Knorr, contractor, kept tabs on his wife, now, her of spending too much money on shoes and too little to run the household. "Forty dollars a pair is too much for shoes," he told a Chicago Judge in supporting his petition for a divorce. The petition itself outlines the alleged misadventure of Mrs. Knorr. "During 1920," it points out, "she failed to prepare 149 breakfasts, eighty-four dinners and stayed away from home sixty-five nights."

In answer, Mrs. Knorr accused her husband of cruelty and with seeking the company of other women.

Accidental Colors.

Accidental colors are those colors which depend on the state of our eyes, and not those which the object really possesses. Thus, after looking at the bright sun, all other objects appear dark; after dark color is the accidental color of the bright sun. When again we come from a dark room, objects at first often have a yellow tinge. This is especially noticeable when wearing large glasses for minutes or two after one has taken them off. The accidental colors are red is black green, blue is black blue, of violet, yellow, white, and the converse.

A Brief Triumph.

The most embarrassing moment of my life happened during my college days. I was a correspondent. We were all sitting at the dinner table of the college boarding house, and trying to outdo the other in interesting remarks. I had just finished what I considered a particularly bright comment. I lifted a cup of coffee to my lips with an air of triumph, when suddenly the chair I was sitting on collapsed and I sank to the floor, allowing the cup of steaming coffee to pour all over my face and clothes.

Macy's 64th Anniversary Sales

BACK in the middle '30's or thereabouts, bluff old Capt. Rowland H. Macy, the founder of this store, sailed home from England in his tidy little packet, with as nice a cargo of fancy goods as you could wish to see. Everything went smoothly until he was within three days or so of port—and then, without the slightest warning, a tremendous hurricane blew up.

Here was a devil of a mess! The sea was running mountains high, and sweeping over the deck, so that the compass fetched loose and was swept overboard. Rain—spray—overhead nothing but clouds and sea—seas confused, winds shifting, rigging damaged—no compass. Captain Macy hadn't an idea which way to head, and gave himself up to despair. Night was coming on, and the storm continued unabated, so that the situation was growing desperate. Suddenly the Captain noticed a rift in the sky, and a small red star shone brightly through the gale.

"Thank God!" he cried. "The way our course by that red star and hold it!"

And so grateful was Captain Macy for that guidance, which saved his ship, that he adopted it as the emblem for his store, and today whenever you see Macy's name, you see beside it a red star.

YOUR SHIP'S COME IN AT LAST! She's Bringing Some of the Biggest Values We Have Ever Offered

The Anniversary Ship—symbolic of the packet in which Captain Rowland H. Macy made his famous "Red Star" voyage—has dropped anchor.

Her hold is crammed with fine merchandise—a special cargo bought for our 64th birthday—so that we may celebrate a bigger and better anniversary than ever before.

For two weeks—beginning on Monday—we'll be breaking out her cargo—we'll be having such special sales that every day will be a "Red Star" value day.

Look in to-morrow's Times, Herald, World, Telegraph or Eagle for the announcement of the first offering. It will be worth your while!

THE BATTLE IS ON.

The Democratic organization never let an opportunity pass for a fight without grasping it, and, as usual, its leaders are now exchanging attacks, all of which are based on suspicion that some one is going to grab something that somebody else wants. Notwithstanding the months that will elapse before a convention is held, the anti-Hearst wing is organized, to combat any advance the Hearst followers may attempt.

Former Judge Seabury is busy flaying Hearst and is having the stalwart assistance of former State Chairman William Church Osborn. With them, Hearst will not get very far.

Not satisfied with assailing Hearst, they are involving the Tammany leaders, the purpose of Judge Seabury and Mr. Osborn being to make Tammany repudiate Hearst right now without waiting any longer. The erstwhile jurist insists upon Tammany declaring that it will not stand for Hearst for anything at any time, and that he must not be considered for any place on the state ticket. To think of Hearst running for governor or United States senator is preposterous, in the opinion of Judge Seabury.

Nevertheless, Hearst, according to opponents is trying to build an upstate organization to capture the Democratic convention and is also trying to manipulate so that former Governor Smith will be on the ticket to help carry Hearst over the road. "Al" is in the trucking business, but unless he has lost all his cunning he will hardly be a truck horse to carry Hearst over an impassable road. But this is the state, according to the statement of Judge Seabury, who, it may be recalled, said that Al Smith was the best representative of the worst element in the Democratic party.

NO MORE OLD WOMEN.

It was somewhat startling to see headlines announcing that old women are to be "abolished," for the reader is once recalled the custom among some savage tribes of turning their old women and old men out to starve or to be the prey of wild beasts when they are no longer capable of useful service. But the "abolition of old women" now proposed is altogether humane, consisting not of destruction but of rejuvenation. Already elderly women are young in dress, and now they are to be made young in both face and figure. It appears that this miracle-working business is already in progress in Paris. According to Helene Rubinstein, who has just arrived in New York from the French capital, "three European scientists," after long study and experiment, have discovered "a method for the rejuvenation of women," which "will make women of forty or more as active or vivacious as the debutante."

Conservative folk who like variety in the human family, are fond of the charming grandmothers of the traditional type and don't want to see them abolished, will not be greatly pleased but no doubt many of the persons interested concerned will hail the announcement with joy. It has been said that a woman is as young as she looks and the dress of many elderly women is proof that they believe it, but of course they are ready to make assurance doubly sure and will need no urging to flock to the fount of wisdom provided by the lady from Paris who has possessed herself of the secret discovered by the "three European scientists." If their eagerness has not separated them from mother wit, however, they will be inclined not to expect too much and will find cause for some-what of disillusion in the incidental statement that Helen Rubinstein is a professional beautifier.

The purpose of Commissioner Sisson to keep the highways open during the winter is but another evidence of the wisdom of the Miller administration to give the people an intelligent administration. Trucks were distributed all over the state by the highway department, and now that the counties have the equipment there is no reason why the roads should not be kept open in winter as well as summer. The Commissioner says there is no reason whatever why the work cannot be done. When it comes to Intelligence count on the Republicans for being there forty ways.

Some men have integrity and some have intelligence, but when you get a combination of both you have a real producer.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper. Look for answers in this column.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Are turtles intelligent?
 2. Do flies have a substance on their legs to enable them to stay on the ceiling?
 3. At what age does a green male canary acquire its full song, and how old do they live to be?

Answers in Monday's Nature Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Does the milk snake drink milk?

No, but unfortunately there is a popular belief that they do steal milk and hence are foes of the farmyard. In captivity a large sized snake will take up only about two teaspoonfuls of water at a time—even if it did take milk, this would hardly be any loss. This snake haunts barns for the rats and mice that live there, and is a valuable check on pests.

2. How far round can a bird turn its head?

From front to back, or half a circle. The bird's neck is made of many bones, as can be seen in a chicken, beautifully fitted together to give flexibility. The topmost vertebra has a single knob, on which the skull revolves. A sleeping bird often shows the ease with which the head can be turned, the bill pointing over the shoulder in the feathers of which bill and eyes are muffled.

3. Does the sea serpent exist?

No, not now. There used to be great swimming reptiles in the Mesozoic Age but they vanished forever at the end of that era. There is an eel-like, legless, very long and slender, with a body composed from top to bottom like a ribbon, found on the California coast, that is mistaken for a "serpent." The striped shark, Chlamydoselachus, first identified off the Japanese coast, that has also been wrongly called a "sea serpent."

FOURTH BINNEWATER

Fourth Binnewater, Feb. 3.—A most enjoyable social was held at the Fourth Binnewater Chapel Tuesday evening. The entertainment consisted of several interesting sketches, vocal and piano solos, community singing, games, etc. A large party from the Hurley church added greatly to the pleasure of the evening. The committee of the affair wish particularly to thank Mr. and Mrs. French and Mr. Kuehn for their untiring efforts which made the evening one long to be remembered. Refreshments were served.

Thomas Carlyle had a room built in the house in Chelsea with double wall, so that he could not hear any of the noise from outside, and in this room he wrote "The French Revolution." On the other hand, could not think well unless he was in a noisy office where there was a lot of noise and racket going on. The house built for him was occupied each day to a certain time for action and it was better and more active at that time than any other time in the 24 hours.

BIG TUNNEL CLAIMS HEARD

Schoharie Reservoir and Schoharie Tunnel Commission, composed of Senator Kelly and Messrs. Mayham and Shea, this week concluded the trial of the claim of the Tri-County Light and Power Company against the city of New York for the condemnation of its power plant at Gilboa on the Schoharie river. This claim, is one of the most important involved in the construction of the reservoir and tunnel, and is for $835,000. The trial occupied thirty days, and involved the examination of important electrical experts Judge John P. Grant of Stamford, is the president and principal owner of the property. The counsel for the company were Judge Clearwater and Harry H. Flemming. The city was represented by Assistant Corporation Counsel William Grogan. The commission will hear the final argument on submission at their April session.

In addition the commission heard the claim of the Conesville and Gilboa Telephone Company for the condemnation of that part of their plant embraced within the taking line of the reservoir and tunnel. This company has extensive ramifications throughout that portion of the Catskill mountains of which Gilboa village is the commercial center. Judge Grant and Judge Clearwater represented the company, and William Grogan, assistant corporation counsel, appeared for the city.

Send 15c in coin or stamps for our up-to-date fall and winter 1921 catalogue, containing 550 designs of Ladies' "Misses" and Children's Patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 40 of the various, simple, stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Childish Reading.

The child worships heroes and accepts the printed word as an oracle. Possible action, for him, is not confined to the four walls of his home or to the street that he knows. And books in the first reading years do not seem to reflect comment upon, or accept amendments for life. The tale that awakens from their pages is more real in reality. Never again, for most of us, will come that complete immersion in the atmosphere of a story that is the even mildly intelligent child's unalienable birthright.—Exchange.

Mesopotamian Language.

The characters of the language of Mesopotamia like the Egyptian, were originally hieroglyphic, and the several hundred groups of wedges by means of which the language was expressed in writing, may now be traced to the original hieroglyphics. One of the early picture-words was a crescent and star, and the picture was employed to express an incantation or exorcism, or anything capable of driving evil spirits from the body of which it had taken possession.

Proper Reading for Children.

It is in the home that the growing mind receives its most lasting impressions. Surround the child with good reading and you surround him with friends. An attractive title and good illustrations are no guaranty that the book contains good reading. If you have not time to read books yourself, consult your librarian and let your choice be not only what will stimulate the imagination but above all something to warm the heart and impress the great truths of life.—Youth's Companion.

"Soaked" Family Dog.

After a Kentucky judge had fined his family dog $20 and costs for speeding and had sentenced him to jail for three days, he went on to say: "You and I are friends. I am your lawyer and you are my doctor. But I am here to administer justice as I see it. And you will serve that sentence in spite of our friendship or what any of our friends may say." Just wait until it comes Doc's turn to sit in judgment on that judge!

TIME TABLE OF

The Franklin Standard of Demonstration

50 to 500 Miles—or More

It is not necessary to accept either our statements or the word-of-mouth confirmation of a Franklin owner. Let the car itself tell the story—the unvarnished story of performance now twenty years old.

We have laid out this demonstration plan to show anyone who wants to know—that motoring can be comfortable, free from trouble, and economical. Call upon any one of our 500 dealers any time. It will pay you to know this car.

FRANKLIN

The Differences Back of the Outstanding Performance of Today's Franklin

Case-Hardened Crankshaft

Outlasts any other three shafts. The only car with this big endurance feature. Seven main bearings (instead of the usual three) reduce vibration.

Direct Air Cooling—

No Water

More efficient, weighs less, has 177 fewer parts. Does away with radiator troubles, cuts routine care, allows chassis flexibility, reduces carbon.

Laminated Wood Frame

More costly to build, but lighter, stronger and more shock-absorbing than steel. Increases comfort, permits wheels to conform to road without straining body.

Four-Point Body Suspension

Here again is flexibility, impossible with body rigidly bolted to frame the entire length. Prevents squeaks and strains.

Two-Point Spring Suspension

See what this does to rigidity, the enemy of comfort, safety and long life. No noisy shackles bolts.

No Torque Tubes or Strut Rods

Another contribution to flexibility. Allows springs to absorb jar of starting, stopping and road jolts. Also eliminates unnecessary weight and noise.

Full-Elliptic Springs

Give almost twice the usual spring movement. Deaden road shocks. More costly than semi-elliptic or other kinds, but important for comfort. Absorb the forces that cause skidding.

Light Unsprung Weight

Less weight below springs than any other car. Reduces reaction of road roughness against tires, body and passengers.

Scientific Light Weight

Quality materials of great strength properly used to equalize stress. Lessen load, distribute it evenly. Lengthens tire life, gives comfort, easy handling and economy.

Generous Use of Aluminum

In body, engine base and oil pan, rear axle housing, etc. Saves 440 lbs. in equipped type, 350 in open. Costs 800% more than materials it replaces. A big factor in Franklin light weight and quality.

Tubular Front Axle

Made of drawn steel tubing. More expensive to produce, but stronger, lighter and free from hidden flaws.

Non-Stalling Engine

A coil switch does it. No pushing of pedals—no meshing of gears. A powerful safety factor.

Carburetor Adjustable From Dash

Carburetor adjustment possible with car in motion, meeting varying conditions. Prevents gasoline waste, insures maximum power.

Cold Weather Starting Devices

Strong starter, improved electric vaporizer, closed circuit ignition system—hotter spark. Makes starting instant, easy and dependable, regardless of temperature.

Patented Long-Type Aluminum Pistons

Combine advantages of cast iron and of ordinary aluminum types. Silent, longer wearing, slow high engine compression, quick acceleration. Reduce carbon.

Elimination of Grease Cups

Wick oiling eliminates all but three, which are easily reached. Lightens routine care, guards against damage due to neglect.

Pressure Oiling to Bearings

Makes oiling positive, constant, and equal—not a matter of chance. Saves many repair bills.

New Use of Drop Forgings

In load-carrying parts. Increases endurance, saves repair bills. The first car to embody this advance in construction.

Safer Braking System

Service and emergency brake areas separated, insuring cool brakes. Service brake on transmission acts through differential equally on both wheels. Multiplies braking force, prevents skidding.

Automatic Spark Control

Relieves the driver of guessing. Insures correct timing at all speeds. Saves engine—saves gasoline.

20 miles to the gallon of gasoline
12,500 miles to the set of tires
30% slower yearly depreciation
(National Averages)

The most comfortable car to ride in
The easiest and safest car to handle
The most economical car to operate
The car that is free from trouble
And can cover most miles in a day

FOR the many motorists who have hopefully changed makes of cars and are still dissatisfied, we have a brief message:

You merely changed makes instead of changing principles.

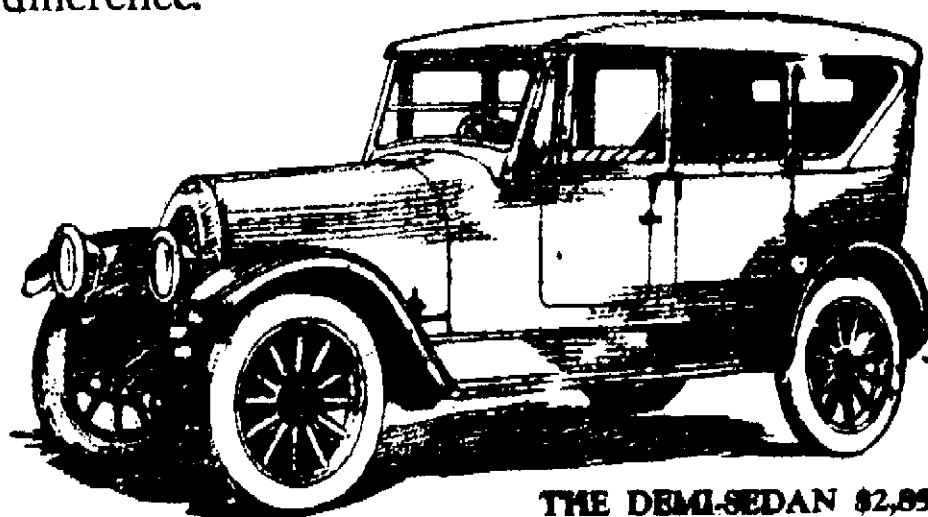

The same make or type of axle, engine or other part gives about equal results in different cars. The Franklin builds on individual and scientific lines. Engine virtually built twice; axle built up and machined for lightness and strength; carburetor of special design—and so on through the list.

Rigidity produces about the same effect whatever the name-plate on the car. The Franklin is flexible.

Water works in the same way on the front of any car. The Franklin is air cooled—no water, boiling, freezing or leaking.

Heavy weight takes its toll in tires, gasoline and comfort. The Franklin is light weight and resilient—easily handled, comfortable and economical.

The demonstration will let you see, feel and hear the difference.

THE DEMI-SEDAN $2,890

An exclusive model, combining the chief advantages of both open and closed cars. Removable, non-rattle glass panels give thorough weather protection. Permanent top, 4 doors, for 5 passengers.

TOURING CAR $2450	SEDAN $3450	RUNABOUT $2400
DEMI-COUPÉ $2750	COUPÉ $3200	BROUGHAM $3300
TOURING LIMOUSINE $3800	(All prices f. o. b. S. -acut)

THE HAPPY WEEDS

"We are so happy," said some little weeds which were growing in a big flower pot.

"I'm glad you are," said Fairy Yhab. "You know I've met such happy creatures and things today! I had a talk with some elephants belonging to a circus not long ago—not more than two hours ago, and while they all had been having a fine time one elephant was as proud as ever a creature could be."

"A Talk."

"And now I meet you and you're all so happy." The Fairy Yhab was perched upon the side of the flower pot. In the flower pot was a big, bright geranium flower, and growing in the earth, too, were quite a few little, tiny weeds.

"What has happened to make you so happy, Weeds?" asked Fairy Yhab. "You see," the Weeds continued after a moment, "we aren't always wanted. As a family we're not so very popular. We're usually dug up and thrown away, and, after all, we suppose that is all right."

"For we, as a family, are rather mean the way we crowd the flowers out of the way, and if they don't want harm done they must get out of the way before we can do much harm."

"We can't really blame people for digging us up, for as a family we do push our way about and aren't in the least polite about waiting for invitations or anything like that."

"But when the person who owns this flower and this flower pot sees us coming up out of the earth, she said:

"Oh, I am glad to see those cunning little weeds growing up!"

"You can imagine how pleased we were! We all were just as happy and pleased as could be. We weren't going to do the flower any harm because we were only little bits of weeds and weren't going to grow up into strong big weeds, but we thought we'd dig up in any case."

"But now we were actually welcomed. Just fancy, Fairy Yhab, how much that means to the Weed family. For some time to come now the family with pride will tell this story."

"Yes, the Weed family will tell how some of its members were wanted and how they were greeted."

"So we're going to stay alongside this fine plant, and we are going to be a part of the decoration in the flower pot."

"That's enough to make us proud, isn't it, Fairy Yhab?"

"Ah, yes, I don't wonder you are proud," said Fairy Yhab. "I don't wonder at all."

"And now I must tell you of the proud elephant. This elephant had been ridden by a beautiful lady who had come to visit the circus."

"She was a friend of some of the circus people and she had asked if she could ride this elephant in the parade."

"And she did! She rode the elephant in not only one, but in two parades!"

"The elephant was so proud! 'Fairy Yhab,' he said to me, 'just think of the great honor which has been shown to me. I have had a visiting lady ride upon me twice!'"

"In fact, Fairy Yhab," the elephant said, as he waved his head at me and moved his great body from side to side as though he were stinging and keeping time at the same moment, "I have had a double honor shown to me, or two honors, because she rode me twice!"

"So you see, Weeds, what happy creatures I have seen today. For the other elephants were all happy, too. They had done some fine tricks and had learned a new one, and they had been given most excellent meals and were feeling much pleased."

"And now, even the little Weeds are happy and have been welcomed."

"It is fine to think of," said the little Weeds "and we are most extremely glad. You might tell the other fairies about it, too, will you, Fairy Yhab?"

"I'm on my way to Fairyland now," said Fairy Yhab, "and I will tell them all about it. Every one of them will hear."

"Good, good," said the Weeds. "We are so very much pleased."

BREAKFAST BREADS

A most tender and delicate muffin is the following and especially nice for breakfast:

Raised Muffins.—Take three cupsful of warm water, one-half cupful of lard, two eggs, two teaspoonfuls of salt, two-thirds of a cupful of sugar, two-thirds of a cupful of yeast, mix as stiff as can be stirred, let rise, stir again, then cover closely and set in a cool place. Put the muffins in the muffin tin about four hours before time to bake. They may be put into the tin late at night and brought into the heat early to rise.

Potato Flour Muffins.—Beat the whites of four eggs very stiff; beat the yolks quite thick, then add one-half teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of sugar and fold into the whites; sift in one-half cupful of potato flour and one-half teaspoonful of baking powder, then fold the two mixtures together; lastly stir in two tablespoonfuls of ice water. Bake in hot well greased muffin tins, in a moderate oven twenty to thirty minutes. These muffins are very tender and delicate.

Eggs, Butterless, Milkless Cake.—Roll together one cupful each of sugar and water, two cupfuls of raisins, one-eighth of a grated nutmeg, one teaspoonful of cloves, a pinch of salt and one-half cupful of lard. When cool add two cupfuls of flour, one cupful of molasses, one-half teaspoonful of baking powder and one teaspoonful of soda in a little water. Beat well and bake in a sheet.

Two Hour Rolls.—Dissolve one and one-half yeast cakes in one cupful of warm water, add salt and one and one-half cupfuls of flour. Let this mixture rise until light. Roll and mash six potatoes in enough warm water to make a quart, add the mashed potatoes and when cool add to the first sponge. When this is light take one cupful of the yeast for a pan of rolls, add flour to make a dough to knead; after fifteen minutes mold into balls the size of an egg, roll in melted butter and set close; let rise in a warm place until double their size. Bake thirty minutes. Keep the yeast in a cool place and it will last a week or two.

The Navy's Mistake.
A clergyman was a geologist and always carried his specimens about in a red handkerchief such as navvies use to carry their dinners in. One day as he was going home with it full of specimens he saw a navvy at the top of a well using violent language because the warden refused to work.

"My friend," said the parson, "do you know Satan?"

"No," replied the man, "but I'll ask my mate, Bill," he cried, "do you know Satan?"

"No!" came the answer from the bottom of the well. "Why?"

"Well, here's a bloke up here with 'em in 'is pocket."—London Tit-Bits.

Her Daddy Was All Right.

When I was twelve years old I called upon Mary (aged eleven) one Sunday evening. I was all dressed up and had pilfered an armful of mother's cherished lilacs from the garden. I stole out the alley gate, traversed Mary's back yard and she met me at the kitchen door. We sat on the back steps. I restrained a strong impulse to flee when Mary said, "Father is coming, I think." He was a gruff, bad man. When he saw us I was terrified. What he said was, "How's the boy tonight?" and he took us both in the house and sent little brother after ice cream and Mary's mother cut a cake. So I wasn't kicked out by an irate father, after all; in fact, he still likes me and often jokes about the lilacs and the kitchen steps, although another young man walked up the aisle with Mary.—Chicago Journal.

Tropical ridges of sorts live less than a day—squid-like have felt their sap quicken with the warmth of three thousand springs. Somewhere between these extremes, we open our eyes, look about us for a time, and close them again. Modern political geography and shift of government give us Methuselah's feelings; but a glance at rocks or stars sends us shuddering among the other notes, which glisten for a moment in the sunlight and then vanish.—William Beebe in the Atlantic Monthly.

High Seas.
The term "high seas" is the open sea or ocean. The claims of various nations to exclusive rights and control over extensive tracts of "high seas" have been settled after much controversy by a general international law. The principle now accepted is that the jurisdiction of maritime states extends only for three miles off their own coasts; the remainder of the seas being high seas, accessible on equal terms to all nations. Inland seas and estuaries, of course, are excepted.

THE WEEK AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

Activities at the Kingston High School have been many and varied this week with Camera Beck featuring on Wednesday morning.

At a special meeting of the Prisma Society, it was decided to have a Valentine party. The party will be quite a novel undertaking for the Prisma girls, as each girl is to invite a Beau Brummel from the high school to be her guest. The committee of arrangements is made up of Elizabeth Jenkins as chairman, Margaret Kelder, Dorothy Kennedy, Norma Warren, Alice McLaughlin, Helen Goldwasser, Dorothy Freeman and Estelle Rodgers as the-artist workers.

As has been the custom in years past the Prisma girls are going to sell carnations on St. Patrick's Day and St. Valentine's Day. A committee was appointed to take care of the proper handling of this undertaking and consists of Kathryn Dean, chairman, Marjory Tilson and Caroline Christians.

The curtain that the Prisma girls made recently for the stage in the auditorium is to be rehung in a more permanent manner. The curtain was first put in place at the busy Christmas season in order to make the play "Eager Heart" the unbounded success that it was.

Several important steps which have been taken by the Prisma Society are awaiting developments before public mention is made of them.

A Senior meeting was called Wednesday afternoon by President Muller and the last word of advice given to the Seniors about the Senior Social which was held Wednesday evening. The Seniors gathered about 7:30 o'clock armed with scissors, ceiling-high stacks of magazines, a retinue of industrious chaperones, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Newton, who were also armed with scissors and their usual happy smiles. The greater part of the evening was expended in cutting smiling faces from the magazines and the various members of the class. The object of cutting the smiling faces from the magazines and papers is to carry off first place and the five hundred dollar prize offered by "Life" in its "Smiling Faces" contest which closes some time this month. The results from the evening's clippings are most gratifying to behold and the only sorrow to be expressed is for the Senior Class's "Smiling Faces" committee which has to count the clippings.

After a while the Seniors began to yawn and stretch from the rigorous application to the tiring job of clipping and then games were played after dancing indulged in. Miss Riechmann, a student at the high school, supplied the music which was enjoyed by everyone. But the "Kitchen Scene" production "The Smiling Faces Committee" was the most refreshing event of the evening. Miss Davis's lunch room was the stage setting, the necessary utensils for a culinary project were in use, for running about the lunch room with white apron hitched about his neck and a stirring spoon and a salt shaker in his hands Muller lent all the local color to the scene that was needed. President Muller was ably assisted by "Chief Charlie" who followed in his wake with a good-sized sack of sugar which he emptied into W. Jennings Bryan's favorite drink. The refreshments were very good and all credit is due to the untiring efforts of the social committee to insure a good time for everyone.

Prizes were given to the boy and the girl having the greatest number of smiling faces. The first prize for the boys went to Fred S. Carr, while Miss Ethel Schwan, the prime mover of the project in K. H. S., won first prize for the girls.

Due to the copyright that covers the play "The Admirable Crichton" the Seniors will be unable to give the public an eye-full on that play. However, a substitution has been made by the advisory committee of the Senior class in the form of the play "Pomander Walk" which has been given all over the North American Continent with great success. Under the capable direction of Miss Mary D. Noone and Miss Helen Carter, teachers of elocution in the school, this play will probably be ready for a public presentation some time in the month of April. The try-outs for places in the play will probably begin after the presentation of "Yanki San". Several committees have been picked to attend to the various phases connected with the presentation of a play and the stage committee stands: Harold Proper, chairman and chief property man; Donald Whitson and Anne Byrne. The publicity committee is made up of Kenneth Hasbrouck and Richard Gruver. The rehearsal committee which has as its duty the exhortation of seniors to attend the rehearsals is Estelle Rodgers and Harry Voss.

Cameron Beck's speech in Wednesday's assembly was given to a delighted student body and an interested group of parents. His talk was the best that has been heard in Kingston High School in quite a while.

Mr. Beck spoke of a lecture that he heard when he was quite a young boy and which impressed him so much that he felt duty bound to pass on the words the eminent lecturer said that have helped him whenever he was inclined to become lax in the fulfillment of his duties. The words are "What you are to be, you are now becoming." And then in explanation of the quotation Mr. Beck declared that the habits of youth are the ones which remain with a person throughout life and as it is difficult to teach an old dog new tricks, so is it hard for an older person to assimilate the cardinal principles of upright living.

While camping in the Rockies Mr. Beck said that he entered a store and purchased a package and found it in his back pocket. While camping in the Adirondacks some time later he again entered a store and purchased the articles again, found it in his back pocket and passed on his way. He did the same thing in Key West and he declared that whenever he wishes his "friend" could he knows that he may be found in any time. What he next did was to wrap a package which he had with him on the rostrum and held before the gaze of his audience. Unseen by him, the trademark of an honest workman. The National Biscuit Company is an organization which is not afraid to stamp upon its products its trademark which, like the croaker it is stamped upon, will bear the scrutiny of anyone. He asked, "What kind of a trademark, if any, are you students placing upon your work? Are you proud or ashamed of it?"

Mr. Beck was a personal friend of the late Jacob Rills, and a stickler for honesty. While speaking to Mr. Rills one day on the topic of "trade-mark" Mr. Rills recounted an experience he had one day while visiting a friend in one of the Scandinavian countries he was acquainted with the horrors that a violent storm had wrought upon the town in which he was staying and of the fact that a ship, so strange of workmanship and appearance that it was believed to have been a Viking ship, had been washed upon the shores of the country. And so it proved to be a Viking ship. Mr. Rills was led by his friend to the seashore and after quite a hike he beheld the ship resting on its side on the rocky shore. Interestingly, Mr. Rills walked about the ship noting the unique details of workmanship until, as he gazed at the prow of the vessel, he saw the disgusting mark left by the dull adze of a lazy workman 1,000 years ago. This workman was too lazy to sharpen his adze and offices the work one does is not done by sharp with the dilatory task's mark follows him through life.

Tardiness among the workers of the Stock Exchange has been reduced to the minimum. Only 31 "lates" a month are averaged among 1,100 workers who live mostly at the commuting range of 35 miles. One rising young man when called to the home of L. W. Woolworth, one of the three great Woolworths in America, was asked by Mr. Woolworth what he considered the most valuable thing in life. Hesitatingly, an ample supply of money, a sum of remuneration for a life well spent. "No, my boy," declared Mr. Woolworth compassionately. "Your character if it is not a priceless. See that you guard it well." In closing his address Mr. Beck said that he wished to leave the fellows with these two words. "Carry on."

Not wishing to stop at securing one good speaker Mr. Lewis has succeeded in securing Mr. Heyliger to speak at the assembly next Monday morning. Mr. Heyliger is a writer of keen ability and a member of the editorial staff of the "American Boy" magazine. The public is invited to attend the assembly. Mr. Lewis is making efforts to secure other speakers and if he is successful results will be published later.

Mr. Spaulding's "Yanki San" is progressing rapidly, the rehearsals are successfully attended and the ticket committees are reporting favorably. The musical ensemble will be excellent and the stage setting will be very pleasing indeed. The inter-class cage teams are practicing regularly in the waking hours and not a little rivalry is presenting itself along this line. All players must be in good standing in their subjects and they must hold a full year's athletic association membership. The captains of the teams are responsible for their players and the captains must report to Miss Siegle in order to see that the membership of the players is O. K. before each game.

No members of either the Varsity or the Midget squads are eligible to compete in class games. The class games will be refereed by the captains of the Varsity squads. Numerals will be given to all players who take part in one full game or in five full quarters. All games will be forfeited to the opposing team if either team is not ready to play within ten minutes of the time stated. The boys' games will start promptly at 3:45; the girls' games will start promptly at 3:10.

The schedule for the inter-class games follows:

Feb. 10—Boys, Freshmen vs. Juniors; Girls, Senior vs. Freshmen.
Feb. 14—Boys, Senior vs. Freshmen.
Feb. 17—Boys, Junior vs. Senior; Girls, Freshmen vs. Juniors.
Feb. 21—Girls, Junior vs. Seniors.
Feb. 28—Boys, Freshmen vs. Junior.
March 3—Boys, Senior vs. Freshmen; Girls, Junior vs. Seniors.
March 7—Girls, Seniors vs. Freshmen.

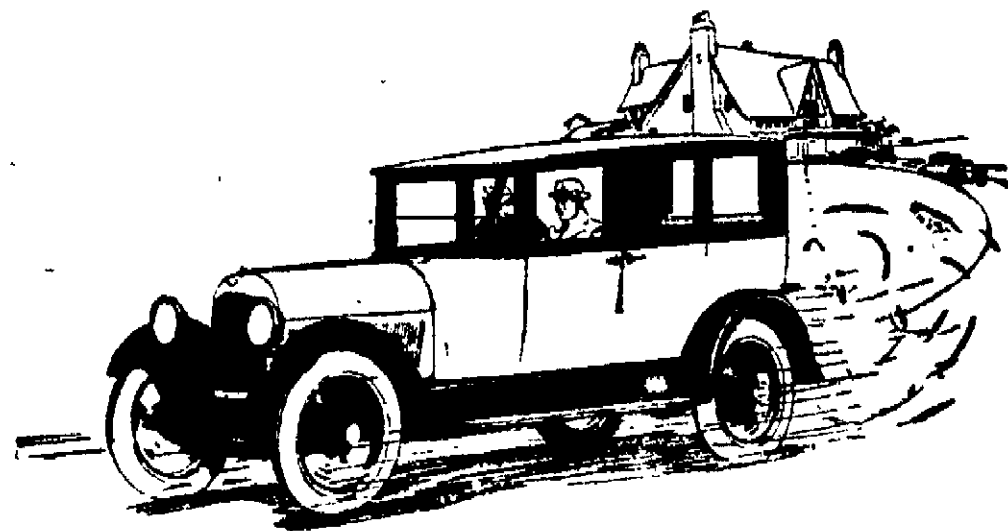

March 10—Boys, Junior vs. Seniors; Girls, Juniors vs. Freshmen.
March 14—Boys, Freshmen vs. Seniors.
March 17—Boys, Freshmen vs. Juniors; Girls, Senior vs. Freshmen.
March 21—Girls, Seniors vs. Juniors.

The Seniors are still at their Friday occupation of "elocutioning" before the entire student body. Miss Hester Livingston was the first victim of the "black spot" which is the generic term applied to a summons from Miss Carter to speak in assembly. She recited very well Oliver Wendell Holmes's "The Chambered Nautilus." A monologue, "At the Theater," was given in the best possible manner by Miss Margaret Rodie, who brought to the fore the humor contained in the selection. Browning's "Incident of the French Camp," followed and was given by Miss Caroline Christians and it showed the preparation that she spent upon her recitation. "My Lady Nicotine," by J. M. Barry, was next given by Miss Marlon Bruckner and from what was told of Dame Nicotine one would opine that she is some person. In view of the forthcoming anniversary of Lincoln's birthday Miss Eleanor Reading recited a cutting from Hawthorne's "Lincoln's Last Dream." Lincoln's last dream was his death before his assassination to visit Palestine and see the places depicted in the Bible which he loved so much. More of the Lincoln Birthday selections will be given next week.

The remarkable thing about it is not the number of miles you can get to the callon but the amount of dust you can swallow to the mile.

A little girl was there, perched on a high stool, looking at him lovingly, and said "When will he talk, mother?"

"Oh, not for a long time yet," replied the mother.

"Yes, but when?" persisted the child.

"Well, not for a week or so," After thinking for a minute, the child exclaimed in surprise, "How funny! Miss Roberts read out of the Bible this morning that Job cursed the hour he was born."

Their 16th Anniversary.

Friday evening was the sixteenth wedding anniversary of West Shore Detective Homer J. Goodsell and his wife of No. 414 Hasbrouck avenue, and that evening they were again surprised when thirty-five of their friends motored up to the house to help them properly celebrate the occasion. Friends and relatives were present from Newburgh and this city, and the evening was delightfully spent with games and music. At an early hour this morning dainty refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Goodsell proved delightful entertainers, and those present expressed the wish that they would be able to celebrate many more happy anniversaries.

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies.

There will be no degree work Monday evening at the regular meeting of Roundout Lodge, No. 543, F. & A. M., but a social hour will follow the business session.

There will be a special meeting of Camp 30, P. O. O. A., Sunday afternoon, requested by Mrs. Laura Fox, at the residence of Mrs. Eldona Freer, 78 Green street.

Colonial Rebekah Lodge, No. 48, I. O. O. F., will hold a thimble party at the home of Sister Louisa Van Etten, 42 Abel street on Tuesday afternoon, February 7, at 2 o'clock. All members and Sister Rebekahs and friends are invited to attend.

An interesting session was held Friday evening in the lodge rooms in the Masonic Building, Broadway and Strand, by Kingston Chapter, No. 155, O. E. S. At the business session two candidates were accepted and other important matters taken up. It was reported that a number of the members are ill with the grip, and several of the officers were unable to be present on that account. At the close of the business session a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served.

SKING BEHIND AUTO HAS OWN EXCITEMENT

Warren And Hagenlocker Not Badly Hurt.

Skating on the Hudson river to the tune of an eight cylinder Cadillac automobile is the latest sport, if so it may be termed. Charles A. Warren, proprietor of Warren's sporting goods store, and "Marty" Hagenlocker both indulged in Mr. Warren's escapade with a slightly sprained knee. "Marty" is still being enticed. This novel experiment was held the other day off Kingston Point when Mr. Warren took his car and with "Marty" at the wheel hitched on behind. Things went well until the car gradually picked up to ten, fifteen, twenty and finally twenty-five miles an hour. Then the fun began. In some way Mr. Warren's feet started in opposite directions and before they could be righted and started in the proper direction he had hit the ice.

Not to be outdone "Marty" Hagenlocker next hitched on behind the car for a spin. He did, and in the spin he struck the ice with such force that he injured his leg and is compelled to go about on crutches. Pictures of the affair, not motion pictures, were taken of the various scenes. The first represents the start, the second going at five miles an hour, the third picture at ten miles, the fourth at fifteen miles, a fifth at twenty miles per hour, the sixth at twenty-five miles an hour and the seventh picture represents the scene just before they started for the doctor.

Both agree that it is good sport but mighty strenuous exercise.

Arkansas River Frozen Over.
The weather bureau at Little Rock, Ark., advises that the Arkansas river at that point has several times been frozen to a depth that would allow teams to cross on the ice between Little Rock and North Little Rock, the municipality just across the river.

From January 11 to January 27, 1918, the river was frozen, the ice on January 21 being five and one-half inches thick. From February 7 to February 17, 1896, the river was frozen over at Little Rock and teams crossed on the ice.

Supreme Church Architecture.
The Church of St. Peter, considered as the masterpiece of church architecture, was completed in its present form early in the seventeenth century, but it is said to have been originally founded by Emperor Constantine at the behest of Pope Sylvester I, back in the fourth century. The dome of the edifice, which has been the scene of thousands of pilgrims and tourists, was designed by Michelangelo.

Railway Station Robbed.
The Delaware & Northern Railroad station at Popponess, Delaware county, was burglarized between 11 and 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning during the temporary absence of the station agent. The thieves secured $50 in cash and two money order books worth $1,000 each. Each book contained 50 orders which can be filled out to the maximum amount of $50 each.

"MUSIC" by H. T. Finck

Criticism on performance of "La Boheme" at Metropolitan Opera House Wednesday, December 28th, 1921.

Fortunately one could enjoy the singing of Lucrezia Bori in the duos, for the part of the lover was taken by Mario Chamlee who, judging by his singing last night, is seemingly destined to become the successor of Caruso. Wouldn't that be great! An American success to Caruso!

I have seen the part of Rudolfo acted more realistically than it was last night, but no one that I have heard has sung it with such mellow, luscious voice and such spontaneity of tonal emission. No shouting, no yelling bloody murder, but ample power and not a bar spoiled. Is the Mario in Chamlee's name prophetic? At any rate, three cheers for America and Mario Chamlee. The Metropolitan is to be congratulated on having such a tenor.

CUSTOMER OWNERSHIP

Customer ownership of a Gas and Electric Company is nothing more or less than the mutualization of that utility.

It means popular but not municipal ownership.

It gives to the customer of gas and electric service a measure of proprietorship in the organization.

It renders to him a share of the profits which are indispensable to any commercial organization if it performs its functions to the community progressively and efficiently.

It makes the public financial partner in the Gas and Electric Company, but at the same time preserves the responsibility, initiative and economic operation that is characteristic of private enterprise.

In order that all our customers may have the opportunity of investing with us in this enterprise, we are offering a bond on a long term, easy payment plan which brings them within the reach of all.

Become a customer owner in the Gas and Electric Company that serves you. Secure your share of the 7 per cent Guaranteed Bonds NOW.

Adams Apple.

Adam's apple is the prominence made by the thyroid cartilage on the front of the human throat. It is natural on both men and women, but is larger in men. Adam's apple, or pomum Adami, got its name from the notion that, when Adam tried to swallow the forbidden fruit it stuck in his throat. The Adam's apple is an aid to the organ of speech.

The Leader.

It was the custom of the congregation to repeat the Twenty-third Psalm in concert, and Mrs. Armstrong's habit was to keep about a dozen words ahead all the way through. A stranger was asking one day about Mrs. Armstrong. "Who," he inquired, "was the lady who was already by the still waters while the rest of us were lying down in green pastures?"—Metropolitan.

WILLIAM OF SWEDEN BAGS GIANT GORILLA

Not long ago a story came from Africa that Prince William of Sweden, who was there on a hunting expedition, had captured a lion and killed a lion with his bare hands. The story at the time was taken with a considerable quantity of salt. Now comes evidence that the prince is a mighty hunter. Here is a picture which the prince brought from the wilds of Central Africa showing him with a giant male gorilla of record size, which he brought down with a 350 magnum bullet on the slopes of Mount Mikono, Central Africa.

PARIS MAY BAR HORSES

Officials Seek Method of Dismantling Traffic Jams.

The horse soon will be but a memory on the principal thoroughfares of Paris if plans of "traffic reformers" are adopted. The object is to disengage the traffic jams which make the pedestrian's existence uncertain.

The experts propose to bar all horse-drawn vehicles from the chief traffic arteries during daylight hours. The traffic authorities would even banish pedestrians, putting them all underground on a moving sidewalk.

Those who take a gloomy view of the traffic situation are one optimistic aspect of it. They say it can't get any worse. Accidents are of almost hourly occurrence.

The red bands of concrete at crossings, constructed to give protection to the walkers, proved a failure. Only a heavy rain reveals their presence and then the drivers ignore them.

"Cruising" taxicabs add to the confusion and it is further suggested that this practice be prohibited.

VARISITY AND BRUNETTES WON

There were two games of basketball played on the high school court Friday afternoon, one between the Blondes and the Brunettes, and the other between the K. H. S. boys' Varsity team and the K. H. S. Mid-jets.

The Blonde and Brunette game was fraught with success for the Blondes, but when the finer points of the game are disclosed and it is made known that Miss Anne Byrne alone scored 15 field goals for the Brunettes enough is said about that game. The final score was 40 to 21.

The Midjets staged a rather unlooked-for surprise upon the Varsity whom they held to a final tally of 15. The Midjets gained their 3 points through the caging of foul baskets. Stumpf, Brown, Hasbrouck, Corrigan, Dederick, Scheffel and the Midjets' team work completely befuddled the Varsity. Anderson, Rowland and Vogt played the best games for the Varsity.

OTHER OWNERS COMING TO HUPMOBILE

Analysis of the Hupmobile business for months back, reveals a significant and startling fact.

This is that no less than half of all the Hupmobile sales in America are being made to owners of other cars.

That shows how far the fame of Hupmobile value has gone beyond our own immediate circle—which is always growing and which keeps on coming back for the Hupmobile.

Expansion of Water.

While nearly all substances are heavier in solid form than in the liquid state, ordinary ice is lighter than water and will float in it. This is due to the fact that as it approaches the freezing point water begins to expand, and when it freezes, it expands so as to increase its volume about one-ninth. This expansive force is sufficiently strong to break glass and earthen pitchers and to split open great rocks in the crevices of which water has frozen.
